Tasting notes

The colour is a bright ruby with a pink edge. Youthful aromas of fruits such as ripe black cherry and cassis mingle with spice and cinnamon. The attack is supple and the acidity is fresh and pleasant. The tannins are well integrated and contribute to the well-balanced mouthfeel. The aftertaste continues for some time. A very enjoyable medium bodied wine which goes well with different kinds of food. Drink now or later.

Valle Frio Estate, Talca

The VALLEFRIO estate is a family owned and managed estate. It belongs to the family since the beginning of the 19th century and is associated with the family's Holding company; one of Chile's largest agricultural business groups. Its 300 hectares of vineyards are located in the Maule Valley, which is Chile's original vine growing region. The region's viticultural history dates back to the time of colonization by the Spanish in the middle of the 16th century. The estate's vineyards are located in 5 different locations each of which has different soil formations; for each the best suited grape varieties were chosen.

Maule is Chile's largest vine growing area (in the Central Valley) but, being located more southern than many other vine growing regions it has the advantage of a cooler climate and more rainfall during the winter. The nights during the growing season are cooler too. This extends the growing season but results in an excellent balance of ripeness and acidity in the grapes which, in turn, permits the wines to age well.
